

Did You Know?

What is the digital product passport?

Digital product passports provide comprehensive information about a building material's origin, composition, and lifecycle. This transparency enables better decision-making, ensuring materials are reused or recycled rather than discarded. For example, when a building is demolished, the digital passport can inform stakeholders about which materials can be reclaimed, reducing waste and conserving resources.

